FOREWORD

The members of the Board of Directors of the Art Association believe that the work of our contemporary industrial designers — no less than that of painters and sculptors — deserves wider public recognition than it usually receives, and the purpose of this exhibition is to encourage this recognition.

If an object is useful, is well made of appropriate materials, and is originated by a good designer who has sympathy for mass-production methods and aims, that object is almost sure to be a good design, and deserves our study.

Any form which expresses only the function for which it was built will unconsciously assume some aspects of beauty, but the designer who gives synthesis to purely functional parts vastly enhances the use of the finished product. The honest and tasteful synthesis of disparate materials, sizes, textures and colors, of solids and voids has been the primary criterion used in selecting objects for this Industrial Design show.

Without the generous loans and services of American manufacturers and distributors this exhibit would not have been possible, and first thanks must go to them. Gratitude is also due Mr. Edward W. Harrison, industrial designer, who contributed valuable advice in the formative stages of the exhibition. Mr. George Jo Mess deserves full credit for the design and preparation of this catalogue. Mr. Clifton Wheeler was good enough to serve with Mr. Harrison, Mr. Wilbur Peat and myself on the jury for selection of exhibits. Finally, thanks are due the members of the office and service staffs of the Museum for their tireless cooperation during the months in which the project gradually took shape.

Following the name of each object, the material, size, model number or other identification, and the retail prices are given. All retail prices are subject to change without notice. The abbreviations used in this Catalog are as follows:

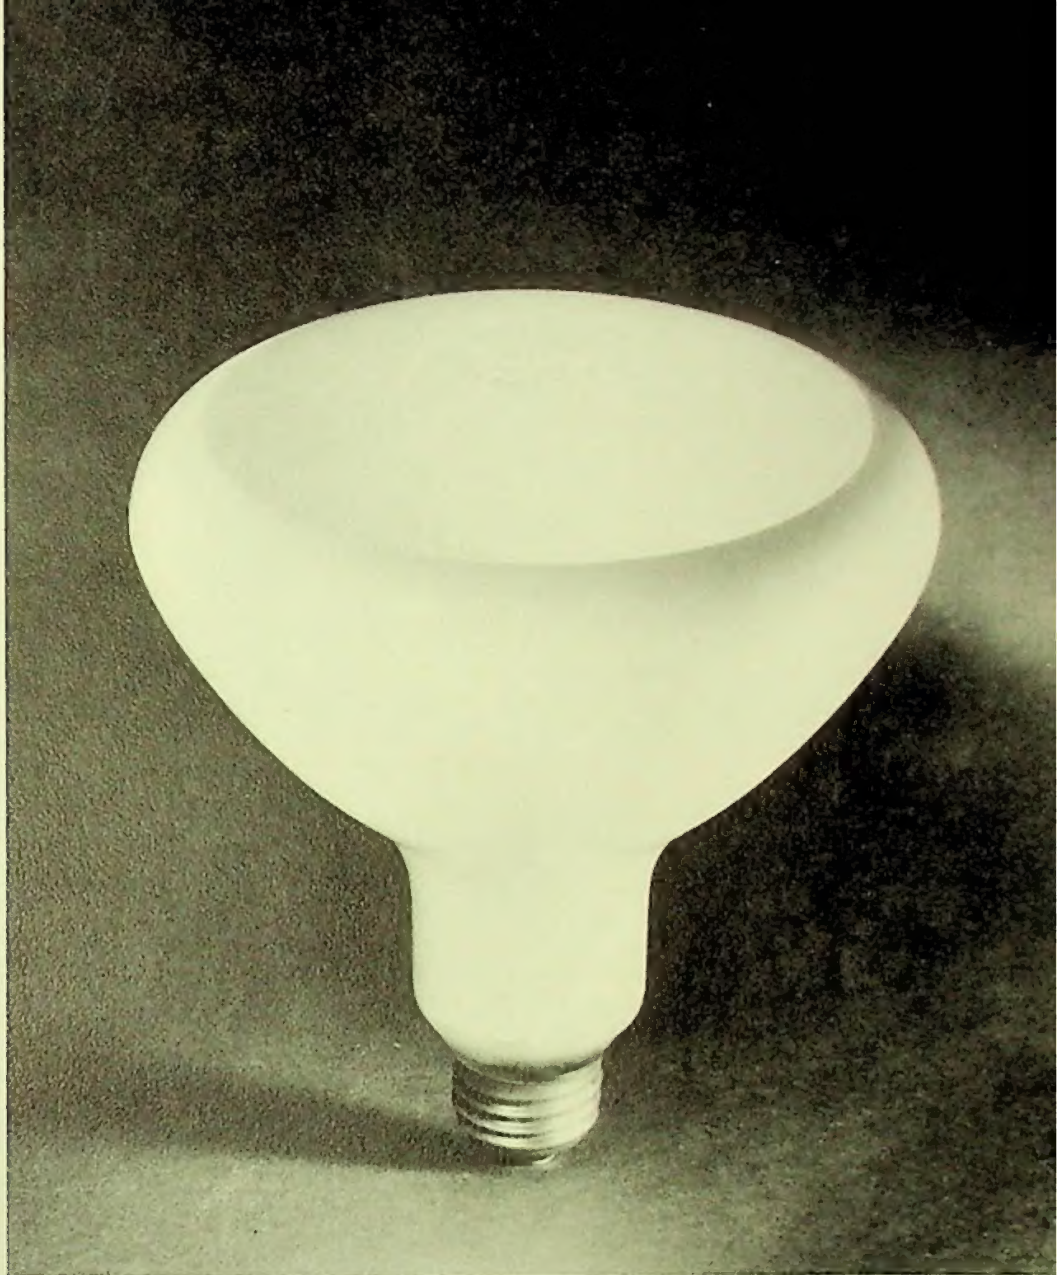

Des.—designer
Mfr.—manufacturer
Distr.—distributor

In the packaging division of the exhibition, the manufacturer listed is the manufacturer of the product, not of the packaging. As containers themselves are never for sale, the retail prices of articles shown only for their packagings are not listed.

Nothing will be sold from the exhibition. As the exhibit staff could not familiarize itself with every local retailer of every product shown, no retailers are listed either in the exhibit labels or in the Catalog.
